

VÖLUSPÁ, A SEERESS'S PROPHECY

A short film by Ethan Jones

‘VÖLUSPÁ, A SEERESS'S PROPHECY’ is an abstract, audio-visual short film that invites you to become immersed in a multidimensional realm of cosmic wonder and celestial mystery.

With computer-generated visuals created using TouchDesigner, this project also features an original, accompanying soundscape composed using the PO-16 ‘factory’ from Teenage Engineering with the ‘BigSky’ reverb pedal from Strymon.

The audio is in stereo.

The audio was recorded live, shifting from one original sound sequence to another in real-time, as it was fed from the PO-16 ‘factory’ through the ‘BigSky’ reverb pedal, until finally reaching Ableton.

There are no digital effects added to enhance or manipulate the soundscape, it has been left completely untampered.

What you hear is what was played live, solely by myself.

Enjoy,

Ethan Jones
